A Parent's Guide to Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND) Provision at Winterton Junior School

All about special educational needs

Approximately one in five children will have special educational needs (SEN) at some time during their school career.

This means they may have difficulty with:

- Reading, writing, mathematics
- Understanding information and others, and expressing themselves
- Organising themselves
- Sensory perception or physical mobility
- Managing their behaviour
- Making friends or relating to adults

These difficulties cause barriers to the child's learning. The school will assess your child to identify their strengths, needs and the extra help they require. They may be at one of two stages on the SEND Code of Practice SEN thresholds:

SEN Support: Extra help in-class from a teaching assistant, small group support, ICT access and advice or support from outside specialists, e.g. specialist teacher, speech and language therapist, health professional.

Education, Health and Care plan: when needs are complex and severe

Partnership with parents

The school works in partnership with parents to meet the child's needs. This means:

- We listen to the views of parents
- Parents are equal partners in decisions about their child's education
- Parents are kept informed about their child's needs and progress

What parents want to know

- What the school thinks your child's special needs are
- What the school is doing to meet your child's needs
- Whether what the school is doing is working
- How your child feels about what the school is doing to help them
- How parents can be involved.

What to do if you have any concerns
